“CEPSA Marine Fuels, S.A., ready for 1.00% sulphur content, at all its ports”

Next 1st July, following the obligation of consuming fuels of 1.00% sulphur content, the last amendments adopted by the International Maritime Organization, will come into force within the limits of the Emission Control Areas (ECAs).

CEPSA Marine Fuels, S.A. (CMF), in order to comply with ECA's requirements and to match its customers' needs, is ready to offer 1.00% sulphur content fuels at all its ports.

Thanks to Cepsa's refineries at Tenerife, Algeciras and Huelva, CMF will guarantee the best quality of these fuels and all products, always adapting to the market demand and international standard regulations.

In order to reach CMF's main objective, Client's Satisfaction, we constantly work on finding the best formulas combining its musts: quality and service. Being ready to supply FO 1.00% in all its ports is one more achievement of CMF's formula.

CEPSA is an industrial group whose activities span the entire oil value chain, ranging from the exploration and production of hydrocarbons to the marketing of petroleum products. The Company additionally has a chemicals division that is tightly integrated with its refining segment, manufacturing and selling feedstock for the production of value-added components used in a wide variety of industries. Not only is CEPSA a major energy player in Spain, but is also broadening its global portfolio of operations in countries such as Algeria, Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Egypt, Panama, Peru and Portugal, selling its products around the world.

CMF, wholly-owned subsidiary CEPSA, began its activity in 1930 supplying marine fuel for vessels in the Tenerife refinery. Today, CMF's main activity is focused on supplying fuel oil for vessels in most of Spain's Ports (specially the Canary Islands, Strait of Gibraltar, Barcelona and Huelva), and as well in Panama, Portugal, and Malta, complying with the rigorous environmental standards and EU requirements
